Institutional Repository:

"...a set of services that a university offers to members of its community for the management and dissemination of digital materials created by the institution and its community members."

Clifford Lynch, Executive Director of CNI
(Coalition of Networked Information)

- ✓ Supports Libraries value of "Open Access"
- ✓ Supports University's strategic goal to build its academic and research reputation

Benefits:

1) REACH broader audiences, faster.

- immediate access to your scholarly work
- satisfy funding requirements to publicly disseminate the research results
- greater visibility through Google and other search engines
- work is more visible, more frequently cited, and more likely to have greater impact

2) DEMONSTRATE research impact with monthly usage statistics.

3) ARCHIVE your scholarly and creative work, so that you know where you can always find it. You retain all previously-held rights to your works.

4) HOST a peer-reviewed journal or conference with built-in publishing tools.

The Libraries:

Collect and input materials, provide metadata, verify journal permissions, advise on copyright and author rights, etc

Materials can include (but are not limited to):

- Articles, books, chapters, conference papers/presentations
- Working papers and reports
- Theses/dissertations
- Datasets
- Multimedia
- Images and creative works
- Primary research materials
- Open educational resources
- University publications

Versions accepted: Depends on the copyright

Publisher PDF	Author Accepted Version peer-reviewed, final author submission before publisher formatting = Post-Print	Author Pre-Print first version submitted to publisher

The Journal of Sociotechnical Critique

ISSN 2643-1629

The Journal of Sociotechnical Critique is a no-fee open-access peer-reviewed scholarly journal that seeks to support theoretically-engaged critical, public, and activist work at the intersections of philosophy of technology, internet studies, communications theory, library and information science, environmental ethics, and related fields. We welcome submissions on these topics from the international scholarly community looking at sociotechnical dynamics within any cultural and geographic context.

See the Aims and Scope for a complete coverage of the journal.

Contact the journal at SociotechnicalCritique@gmail.com or write one of our Editors directly.
